The Royal Mail steamship Asia, from Liverpool on Saturday, March 22, arrived at her dock yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Nothing has been heard of the Pacific.

It was generally believed that the treaty of Peace would be signed on Saturday the 29th, or Monday the 31st of March. In the event of delay occurring, the armistice would be extended to the 30th of April.

The tenth meeting of the Conference was held on Tuesday, the 18th March, and the Russian representatives took their seats.

The eleventh meeting was to take place on Thursday, the 20th, and it was thought that peace would be signed on Saturday, the 29th, or on Monday, 31st.

The actual business of the Conference is said to be over, and a Committee of one representative of each of the powers is engaged in drawing up the formal treaty of peace.

The Columbian corvette of 36 guns, Montgomery, Lieut Cowley, Captain Read, Belize Balize, Comet Uxbow and Ariel Packet.

Mr. BUCHANAN has introduced his successor, Mr. DALLAS, to the diplomatic corps, and on Monday, the 17th, transferred to him the archives of the Embassy.

Mr. BUCHANAN has gone to Paris, whence he will return in a few days, and will probably remain home by the steamer leaving Liverpool on the 16th or 19th of April.

The Empress and her child continue well, and the Tuileries has been crowded with all sorts of deputations.

A dispatch from Paris, dated evening of Wednesday, 19th, is as follows:

"The state of Spain excites great alarm here. New Carlist conspiracies are projecting. The Spanish Government has been warned, and the frontiers on this side are well watched."

"There is a report from the Crimea that two divisions of the army—the Highland and third or fourth division—under Sir COLIN CAMPBELL, will immediately proceed to Canada.

Additional forgeries by the late Royal Servants have been discovered—among others £50,000 on Mr. DARGAN.

Prince FREDERICK WILLIAM, of Prussia, is to visit England in May, on the invitation of the mother of Queen VICTORIA'S eldest daughter (Princess Royal). According to the Berlin Correspondent, the young man "evidently dreams of the throne of his uncle, the present King, and of the Princess Royal, and the connection between the two families would, in that case, be drawn still closer."

The American Correspondent has the following, dated March 19 and 20: "Count PAHEN has arrived at Constantinople. Count ORLOFF is expected there shortly. The Russian Plenipotentiaries are preparing to leave Paris. The Russian Ambassador at Vienna, Count STACKELBERG, has left for Paris. The Russian Ambassador at Berlin, Baron BRUNNOW, has left for Paris. The Russian Ambassador at Turin, Count KISSELEFF, has left for Paris. ☞ In the United States Senate, yesterday, the Senate bill making an appropriation of $[illegible],000 for removing and maintaining the permanent disposition of the Indians on the Pacific Coast, and $130,000 for gunpowder, was passed. Mr. COLLAMER then concluded his remarks on Kansas affairs, and was followed by Mr. DOUGLAS in reply. In the House, a bill was introduced to authorize and facilitate the [illegible] of a Northern, Southern, and Central Pacific Railroad and Telegraph line, which was referred to the Select Committee on that subject. The Senate's amendments to the Deficiency bill were taken up in Committee, and the Slavery question was discussed. Both Houses adjourned to Monday.

☞ In the State Senate yesterday, the bill to [illegible] Charter of this City, as reported by the Committee, was passed, as was also the bill to incorporate the Pure Milk Company. The Metropolitan Police bill was considered in Committee of the Whole, and the New-York Police bill made the special order for Monday. In the Assembly, the bill regulating the salaries of the Judges of the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court was considered in Committee, and the enacting clause was stricken out by a [illegible] vote. It was laid on the table. The [illegible] bill was recommitted after a [illegible]

The News from Europe.

The Niagara steamship Asia arrived at this port yesterday afternoon with three days' later advices from Europe—the most important part of which is that the restoration of Peace is all but formally announced, and that a treaty is on the eve of being concluded. It is alleged by [illegible] Journals—and general credit seems to be given to this statement—that a Committee has been appointed by the Paris Congress to frame the treaty on the bases of the Vienna Protocol, and that it will be immediately followed by a proclamation of peace. The speech of the Emperor of the French, in answer to an address from the Plenipotentiaries on the advent of an heir to his throne, is regarded as a significant confirmation of the [illegible] belief. In that occasion Napoleon is given me joy that Providence has [illegible] on at the moment when an era of general reconciliation announces itself to Europe," and the positive manner in which the fact is stated, taken in conjunction with the cautious character of the man who uttered the words, at once removes every doubt on the subject, and convinces the most skeptical that the object of the Paris Congress has been attained. The [illegible] now which the attention of thinking [illegible] is drawn is to speculate on the nature of [illegible] about to be ratified and the probabilities [illegible] constituting all the requirements for a substantial and durable peace. In this connection an article, which we publish elsewhere, [illegible] London Times, is worthy of attention. It [illegible] asserted that some of the secrets of the Conference have leaked out, and it is [illegible] the British Plenipotentiaries have not received from France sufficient support to [illegible] some conditions of peace to [illegible] of England. Such, indeed, [illegible] the prevailing impression in Great [illegible] from the tone of the London Journals. The Post, a ministerial organ, alone [illegible] The Paris correspondent of the last [illegible] promises to give some of the leading points [illegible] and the writer certainly [illegible] the views which the British Press and public [illegible] to be the basis granted by Russia.

The [illegible] intelligence by this arrival is [illegible] is scarcely composed of gossip about the Emperor and the young King of Rome. The Monitor states that [illegible] no political offences, will be [illegible] to return to France on promises of good [illegible] for the future.

Some interesting news has been received from India. The official proclamation of the annexation of Oude to the British Dominions, which we have transferred to our columns, is somewhat curious as illustrating how such things are done by Britishers, and how justification can always be pleaded in their extenuation. Verily, [illegible] of John Bull's holy horror at our filibustering propensities, we have yet a lesson or [illegible] to learn from so old a hand.

The Reception on the Missouri Coast.

[illegible] from the Pacific promised by the Washington [illegible] appeared yesterday [illegible] publication, and is very brief. It [illegible] long enough to [illegible] the [illegible] Commissioners, [illegible] the Missouri coast, [illegible] the Mormons, [illegible] the Indians, [illegible] the Territory, [illegible] the Pacific Railroad
